The preceding prices include: (1) Hunting license. (2) Government Conservation Fee ($2,200 - $5,500 per animal). (3) Government taxes of $1,000 - $2,000 per animal. (4) Travel days and hunting days (transport, food, lodging, guides, staff, interpreter, services). (5) Trophy fees to private landowners. (6) Trophy preparation and paperwork so you can take your trophies with you. This requires 2-3 days during which you can hunt 500-pound Wild Boar or sightsee. (7) CITES for Transcaspian Urial often requires 2-3 weeks, so you can have this trophy shipped to Canada or Europe for later pick-up, or you can return to Iran for another hunt and pick-up. (8) Export Certificate for all species. (9) Rifle and ammo clearance. (10) Insurance.

Extra costs: (1) Sightseeing or overnighting in cities like Tehran, Esfahan, Kerman, etc. (2) Tips (5-10% total recommended for guides, game scout, driver, interpreter/tour guide, cook, housekeeper).

Additional information: * The number of hunting days per Sheep or Ibex is 5. On some reserves, Sheep and Ibex may both be hunted ... then the number of hunting days is 8. The number of hunting days for Gazelle is 3. ** There are several variations for the Wild Boar hunt. The one above is designed to accommodate Sheep/Ibex hunters at the end of their shikar while they are waiting 2-3 days for the preparation of their skins and skulls/horns and paperwork so they can carry their trophies back with them along with the Wild Boar(s) tusks. The alternative is to stay in Tehran or elsewhere and sightsee at an extra cost. Some reserves may require 2 travel days.

Only $5,000 per species to book your hunt!
