The preceding prices INCLUDE: (1) Hunting license. (2) Government Conservation Fee (2,200 - 5,500 E per animal). (3) Government taxes of 1,000 - 2,000 E per animal. (4) Travel days and hunting days (transport, food, lodging, guides, staff, interpreter, services). (5) Trophy fees to private landowners, if hunting a private reserve. (6) Trophy preparation and paperwork so you can take your trophies with you. This requires up to 4 days during which you can hunt huge Wild Boar or sightsee. (7) CITES for Transcaspian Urial often requires 2-3 weeks, so you can have this trophy shipped to Canada or Europe for later pick-up, or you can return to Iran for another hunt and pick-up. (8) Export Certificate for all species. (9) Rifle and ammo clearance.

Extra costs: (1) Sightseeing or overnighing in cities like Tehran, Esfahan, Kerman, etc. (2) Tips ($2,000 per Sheep and/or $1,200 per Ibex is recommended for guides, game scouts, driver, interpreter/tour guide, cook, waiter, housekeeper, customs assistance, etc.). (3) Expect a charge of $100-$250 at the airport by your airline prior to your departure from Iran.

Additional information: The number of hunting days per Sheep or Ibex is 5 on private reserves and 3 on government reserves. The number of hunting days for Gazelle is 3. There are several variations for the Wild Boar hunt. The one above is for 3 days, includes one trophy Boar, and accommodates Sheep/Ibex hunters at the end of their shikar while they are waiting for the preparation of their skins and skulls/horns and paperwork so they can carry their trophies back with them along with the Wild Boar(s) tusks. The alternative is to stay in Tehran or elsewhere and sightsee at an extra cost. Note: Some reserves may require 2 travel days to reach.
